Best Practice Focus: Effective Communication with Department Faculty

C. Ruth, S. Herrick, J. Lehr shared best practices for effectively communicating with faculty within your division as well as deans of instruction. It was suggested that standardizing messages and keeping them for future use is a good practice when sending communications. Also, understanding what the role and responsibilities of the deans of instruction before meeting.

The council identified leads for sections of the handbook:

Faculty Prioritization

Star Taylor (Teaching & Learning Faculty Chair) department chairs need to dive in deeply to the prioritization, take this seriously as these priorities affect our jobs, students, and also the big picture. Meeting will be 10/14/22 1-3:30pm

Dual enrollment – numbers are up right now for most of the classes, state pushing for robust dual enrollment programs

Scheduling – a workgroup on schedule timelines and other related issues is meeting with Susan Mills on Monday, thinking about annual scheduling again, will keep you posted

A handful of schedule related questions: scheduled vs. contact hours, any expected contact time with

Wrap up and next Steps

Next Meeting: November 10th At this meeting, in addition to our best practice focus on Navigating student complaints, we'll be looking for updates on the Chairs' Handbook work and a revised draft of the Constitution and Bylaws based on today's feedback, and we will be joined by Dr. I. Moore, Dean of College Equity, Inclusion and Engagement
